

Dave Barlow has worked for Manchester City Council for over thirty five years, specialising in environmental management, urban ecology and nature conservation, and is a member of the Chartered Institute of Ecology and Environmental Management. Through extensive consultation and partnership working, Dave has helped shape many of the City's key environmental strategies as well as delivering a range of high profile practical projects on the ground. He currently holds a strategic role within the Council's City Policy Team, and leads on all aspects of Green Infrastructure and Biodiversity.