

John Little I am the founder of the Grass Roof Company working to use plants and soils to make better places to live. I am a plant lover. I have introduced wild landscapes into schools, public space and onto roofs and produced a self-build turf roof house. Grass Roof Company seeks to get habitat into everyday infrastructure and provides grounds maintenance for social housing with the potential of dictating substrates in public planting to provide plant diversity and breeding space for inverts. Our book: Small Green Roofs.
