

Phil Wheater is Emeritus Professor in Environmental and Geographical Sciences at Manchester Metropolitan University. He has expertise and interest in several aspects of urban ecology, including in restoration ecology. Recently he has been working on the ecology, monitoring and management of public open spaces for both biodiversity and human health and well-being.